Subject: Fine Particle Attainment Demonstration and Technical Support Document for the Indiana Portion of the Cincinnati-Hamilton, OH-KY-IN Area

On April 5, 2005, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) designated Lawrenceburg Township, Dearborn County, IN a nonattainment area, as part of the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN Fine Particles Nonattainment Area.

The Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 (CAAA) required areas designated nonattainment for the fine particles air quality standard to develop State Implementation Plans (SIPs) to expeditiously attain and maintain the standard. Section 172 (c) of the Clean Air Act (CAA) stipulates the requirements that nonattainment areas must meet, including the development of a plan to demonstrate that the area will meet the ambient air quality standard by its assigned deadline (April 5, 2008).

Therefore, in accordance with the CAA, the Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) has prepared a draft attainment demonstration plan for submittal to the U.S. EPA. IDEM is making available this draft document for public review and comment beginning April 3, 2008.

Notice is hereby given under 40 CFR 51.102 that IDEM will hold a public hearing on Thursday, May 8, 2008. The purpose of this hearing is to receive public comment on the Draft Attainment Demonstration Plan in association with the fine particles standard, for the Indiana portion of the Cincinnati-Hamilton, OH-KY-IN fine particles nonattainment area, (Lawrenceburg, Township, Dearborn County) Area. The meeting will convene at 5:30 p.m. (local time) in the Lawrenceburg Public Library, Depot Meeting Room, 150 Mary Street, Lawrenceburg, Indiana. All interested persons are invited and will be given opportunity to express their views concerning the draft document.

Upon request, copies of the draft documents will be available on or before April 3, 2008. The draft document is also available for review and download on IDEM's web site located at <http://www.in.gov/idem/programs/air/attainmentdemos/index.html>, or may be reviewed and copied at the following locations:

- Lawrenceburg Public Library, 150 Mary Street, Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

- Lawrenceburg City Building, 230 Walnut Street, Lawrenceburg, Indiana.

IDEM will accept written comments concerning this matter through May 9, 2008. Mailed comments should be addressed to:

Dear Ms. Bukarica:

The Division for Air Quality has reviewed the Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) document titled, "Fine Particle Attainment Demonstration and Technical Support Document for the Indiana Portion of the Cincinnati-Hamilton, OH-KY-IN Fine Particle Nonattainment Area," for the Lawrenceburg Township in Dearborn County, Indiana. Kentucky offers to make the following comments.

- 1) In Table 1.2 on page 3, the annual average data for Campbell and Kenton Counties do not match the Kentucky data submitted to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Air Quality System database. As a result, this affects the 2001-2003 Averages for these counties in the next column. For Campbell County, the average listed is 14.42 micrograms per cubic meter ( $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ ), compared to Kentucky's value of 13.9  $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$ . For Kenton County, the 2001-2003 Average of 14.90  $\mu\text{g}/\text{m}^3$  agrees with Kentucky's data, even though the annual average data are different. See the summary table provided below.

Joe,

Thank you for submitting your comments regarding the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN PM state implementation plan. We are going to use the data you submitted to us. However, we need the data to go out two decimal places and the data you submitted only goes out one. Would you mind sending me the info one more time, but with two decimal places? I've attached a copy of the comments we received from you for your reference. Please call me if you have any questions.

11 I would like to introduce the following
12 documents into the record:

- 13
14 (1) The notice of public hearing.
15 (2) Draft Fine Particle Attainment
16 Demonstration and Technical Support Document
17 for the Indiana Portion of the Cincinnati-
18 Hamilton, OH-KY-IN Fine Particle Nonattainment

21 (3) Supplement to Appendix A, 2007 Monitoring
22 Data Technical Support Documentation.
23 (4) 2005 Dearborn County, Indiana Emissions
24 Inventory.
25

1                   Finally, I would like to briefly go over the 2 contents of the draft document.

3
4                   In 1997, the United States Environmental
5 Protection Agency set daily and annual ambient air quality
6 standards for fine particles at 15.0 micrograms per cubic 7 meter on an annual basis and at 65.0 micrograms per cubic 8 meter on a 24-hour or daily basis.

9
10                  Legal challenges to the new standards for fine
11 particles resulted in delayed implementation of the 12 standards until February 2001, when the Supreme Court upheld
13 the standards and ruled that the U.S.EPA could proceed with 14 implementation of the new standards. Indiana began
15 monitoring for fine particles in 1999. The U.S.EPA
16 originally designated counties under the fine particle
17 standards based on 2001 through 2003 monitoring data in 18 December 2004. The U.S.EPA designated areas throughout the 19 country as attainment, nonattainment, or unclassifiable.
20 Lawrenceburg Township in Dearborn County, Indiana was 21 designated nonattainment as part of the Cincinnati-Hamilton
22 OH-KY-IN Fine Particle Nonattainment Area. The U.S.EPA
23 withdrew a number of counties identified as nonattainment
24 based on updated monitoring data for 2002 through 2004 prior 25 to the effective date of designations, which was April 5,

1 2005, based on the fact that those counties had met the 2 standard at the close of 2004. However, this action did not
3 affect the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN nonattainment area.
4 The area's controlling design value (17.8 micrograms per 5 cubic meter) was monitored at the Seymour & Vine Street
6 monitor in Hamilton County, Ohio. Monitors for ambient fine
7 particle levels are located in all counties in the 8 Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN nonattainment area except 9 Warren County, Ohio, Boone County, Kentucky and Lawrenceburg
10 Township in Dearborn County, Indiana.

11
12 The Cincinnati-Hamilton Oh-KY-IN Fine
13 Particle nonattainment area consists of Lawrenceburg
14 Township in Dearborn County, Indiana; Butler, Clermont, 15 Hamilton, and Warren Counties, Ohio; and Boone, Campbell and 16 Kenton Counties, Kentucky.

17
18 The agencies responsible for assuring the 19 nonattainment area complies with the Clean Air Act 20 requirements are:

- 21
22 * The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency (Ohio
23 EPA), which is responsible for Butler,
24 Clermont, Clinton, Hamilton and Warren
25 Counties, Ohio;

1                   * The Kentucky Department for Environmental 2                   Protection, (KDEP), which is responsible for
3                   Boone, Campbell and Kenton Counties, Kentucky;
4                   and,

5                   * The Indiana Department of Environmental 6                   Management (IDEM), which is responsible for 7                   Lawrenceburg Township, Dearborn County,
8                   Indiana.

9
10                   Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky have worked
11                   cooperatively with U.S.EPA Regions IV and V to address
12                   attainment planning issues.

13
14                   Although Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky have worked 15                   together on a comprehensive plan for multi-state areas, each 16                   state is required to make a separate submittal for its 17                   portion of the planning components to U.S.EPA. Attainment
18                   demonstrations are considered SIP submittals and U.S.EPA
19                   action on them is taken separately. This submittal only 20                   covers the Indiana portion of the nonattainment area,
21                   Lawrenceburg Township, in Dearborn County, Indiana.

22
23                   The Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990 (CAA)
24                   required areas designated nonattainment for the annual fine
25                   particle NAAQS to develop SIP revisions, to expeditiously

1       attain and maintain the standard. Section 172 of the 1990
2       Clean Air Act stipulates the requirements nonattainment
3       areas must meet, including the development of a plan to 4       reduce direct PM<sub>2.5</sub>, NO<sub>x</sub> and SO<sub>2</sub> emissions and a
5       demonstration that the area will meet the ambient air
6       quality standard by April 5, 2010.

7
8               The Clean Air Act requires multi-state
9       nonattainment areas to demonstrate attainment using 10      photochemical computer grid modeling. A computer model is 11      used to predict maximum fine particle concentrations in 12      every grid cell (or point of analysis) within the 13      nonattainment area. Computer modeling conducted by the Lake
14      Michigan Air Director's Consortium (LADCO) shows all future
15      year concentrations well below the annual fine particle 16      NAAQS of 15.0 micrograms per cubic meter. According to the 17      U.S.EPA guidance, areas with future year design values lower 18      than 14.5 micrograms per cubic meter at each monitor site
19      only need to provide a basic supplemental analysis that the 20      area will attain the annual fine particle standard. Since 21      the area's future year design value is predicted to be 22      significantly below the fine particle standard, at 14.4 23      micrograms per cubic meter, a basic supplemental analysis is 24      only required to support the modeling analysis. This 25      analysis further demonstrates that the nonattainment area

1 will comply with the annual fine particle standard by the 2 prescribed attainment date of April 5, 2010.

3
4 This demonstration shows that NO<sub>x</sub> and SO<sub>2</sub>
5 emissions reductions since designation have had a positive
6 effect on regional fine particle levels. It also shows that 7 once the photochemical modeling results are considered along
8 with additional national, regional and local control
9 measures to be phased-in or implemented in 2008 and 2009,
10 air quality in the area will achieve attainment of the 11 annual NAAQS for fine particles by April 5, 2010, and 12 provide for an ample margin of safety.

13
14 This plan satisfies Indiana's obligation
15 under Section 172c of the Clean Air Act to demonstrate how 16 the area will attain the annual standard for fine particles
17 by the attainment date, and as a result, realize cleaner
18 air. The development of this plan will bring this region
19 into compliance with state and federal fine particle air
20 quality standards, and provide real progress in the state's 21 journey toward cleaner air.

22
23 In conclusion, monitors in Ohio's portion of 24 the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN Fine Particle Nonattainment
25 Area have measured values above the 2006 daily standard.

1       However, the U.S.EPA has not implemented the standard at 2       this time. This document solely applies to demonstrating
3       attainment of the annual fine particle standard.

4
5               This concludes my comments regarding the draft
6       Fine Particle Attainment Demonstration and Technical Support
7       Document for the Lawrenceburg Township in Dearborn County,
8       Indiana, the Indiana portion of the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-
9       KY-IN Fine Particle Nonattainment Area. Before opening this 10      hearing for public comments, may I once again remind you
11      that this hearing pertains solely to this draft attainment
12      demonstration and technical support document in association
13      with the annual standard for fine particles for Indiana's
14      portion of the Cincinnati-Hamilton OH-KY-IN Fine Particle
15      Nonattainment Area, and only comments germane to this matter
16      will be considered as part of the public record.

17
18              Amy and I will be available following this 19      hearing to address any questions you may have that do not 20      pertain to this specific matter.

21
22              This hearing is now open for public comment.
23      Are there any public comments?

24
25              In the absence of any further comments, these

1 proceedings are hereby concluded. This hearing is 2 adjourned.

3
4 Thank you.
